CONVICTED A CAPITALIST,

A Sensational Case in a Minnesota Court

Yesterday. St. Paul, Sept. S.—One of the most sensational incidents in the annals of crime in Minnesota occurred this aftermoon before Judge Twohey, in the municipal court of St. Paul. It was not less than the conviction and sen tence of a leading citizen of St. Paul worth $300,000 to serve sixty days in the work house without the option of escaping by paying a fine. New Orleans, Sept. 8.—Sullivan took his defeat of last Wednesday night very hard today. Whether it is due to the fact that the dedication services of the world's fair take place in October and the garroters and sand-baggers are getting their hand in for that and the world's fair itself, or whether it is because the police force of the city was never so completely demoralized as it and a half other men. Daired.

No Laughing Matter, Yet I observe that they severely condemn the German authorities for having decreed the extent of the cholera epidemic, and take the position that it was little less than criminal to keep the people in ignorance of the danger that menaced them. I believe that it is equally as reprehensible to conceal the fact that Chicago is ridden by a gang of highway robbers because the information puts men on their guard. A large proportion of the people robbed on Chicago's streets are out f-town people. If they were warned to stay in at night, or at least to keep on a few of the well-traveled streets and get home before midnight, they at least would escape.

And it is no laughing matter after all, because in the murder of Peter Mortie on the lake front, for example, it was very clearly shown that a man who resists the nighwaymen can expect death. Mortie was found dead with a bullet hole in his head. There had been a robbery, unattended, however, with a tragedy every night for a week previous to the killing of Mortie. There was a robbery every night for a week after his murder, and all in the same neighborhood. From the circumstances of the slaughter it was evident that it was the work of one gang. The police have dropped the search for the murderers, nor are they able to run down one of the gang who has been guilty of the depredations.
